the war, pardoned, it may be, but manifes changed in temper and purpose, there is displayed the same sectional spirit and hatred of the Federal Government, though not the same stomach for fight. Under a thin disguise of flattery of the President, they assail his friends who have stood by him all through the dark years of the conflict, and villify those whom they call the Radicals, meaning all Union men who opposed their infamous course, and who are now unwilling that they should again be restored to power over loyal men. Their diurnal venom affords the strongest of arguments against the admission to their seats of your Congressional representation. This remark applies, with few exceptions, to the entire Southern press.

The ideas and principles of the rebellion are constantly instilled by it into the popular mind. Fortunately for Tennessee, unlike some of the neighbor States, she has manhood enough left in her Legislature, her press and her citizens of native and fors her strength and grace, commending her to the oyal and patriotic of the whole nation.

They who, for four years, conspired to destroy the Government, if they are now sincere, will cheerfully accept the measure of liberality accorded to their sembling of the Convention to-day. We publish it to correct certain erroneous impressions and reports in the language of the President, "take a back seat." Let them have the benefit of equal laws, and take from them at once the power and temptation to renew their assault upon the life of their country. Many of them the President has certainly pardoned. But is it quite certain that they have pardoned him, that they do not still cherish towards him the same feeling of revenge, as toward all others of our State who united with him in the overthrow of their cherished cause?

In closing, I hope not to be thought presuming if I urge upon our friends, the Union men of the State, the policy, the duty, the necessity of keeping your ranks, of standing shoulder to shoulder, as when you faced the enemy on the field. Strenuous efforts are made to sow dissention among you. They would divide you to rain you. Uniting with one faction to overpower the other, they would then turn upon their allies and rend them. Let no Union man, high or low, court the favor of traitors. We will never win it. From the first, they have held him as their enemy, and to the last they will be his. Every Union man who puts his trust in them will sooner or later find it out. Be wise, I beseech you, in time. AN APPEAL To the Masonic Fraternity, in behalf of Education. S A COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY A the Masonic Fraternity of Cleveland Lodge, No. 131, are authorized to solicit all Lodges, Brother Masons and fric of education, the most hearty co-operation and active inter-in the important enterprise of giving the young ladies of o State, and the surrounding country, a most therough, practi-and useful education. We know we have every advantage a convenience for maintaining and establishing one of the t schools in the country, as cheap, good and beneficial as

In connection with our Lodge we have a most excellent male institution, controlled by a board of efficient Trustees, and the most thoroughly competent teachers. This institution was chartered with collegiate powers in 1856, under the title of "Masonic Fernale" institute, "and it commands a wold influence. It is our duty as Masons and our most carnest desire to make its influence wider and its advantages felt throughout the country. ut the country.

The education of young ladies must be attended to, and who is more worthy to reap the benefits of our efforts than our own daughters and our own families? By a united effort of all Lodges and Brother Masous we can and sensi have a name. Our Lodge is flourishing, and our Institute also, but we want to make our young ladies competent to occupy any and ever position appropriate to their sphere. We have every facilit for their accommodation and most thorough education. Ou town is easy of access from all points-healthy and comp of good society and good churches. The students are well cared for by the teachers and their health carefully looked after. Our course of study is thorough. No labor or means are spared to make every one not only accomplished but her edu-tion useful to herself and others.

As Masons and friends of education, we must be active, energetic and progressive to keep ours ahead and above other titutions of our section.

January 1st, 1866, the Masons made an appropriation for charitable purposes. Five daughters of Master Masons, de-ceased, are provided for, and it is the intention of the Lodge to make provisions for as many more as soon as the finances of the Fraternity will justify them in so doing.

An excellent boarding house is established near the Institute, for the accommodation of all those coming from abroad. The terms are so reasonable that the complaint of high board cannot be longer an obstacle to sending to our school.

We have in the Musical Repartment Prof. Joseph Wassamer, who is too well known to deed commendation. He is a most thorough and efficient teacher, and his scholars show the true Tuition in the Literary Department ranges from $22 to $500 year, without any extra charge. Music, French and Draw-Again, Brothers, we call upon you to come up and aid us
